

Keynote Luncheon: Monday, October 3rd

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Alex Philp

The Future of Geospatial Analytics

The next generation of geospatial processing is here and anyone focused on working with data is being bombarded with more information than ever before. Dr. Philp will discuss how we can harness the power of geospatial analytics to make sense of this high velocity, high variety and high volume data using real-time stream computing techniques.